

Taking Pride in Sandy,

by Trina Klingler, Newsletter Editor

May 13, 2006 marked the 22nd year that the Exchange Club of Sandy, Sandy City staff, residents and other volunteers rolled up their sleeves and pitched in to make their community more beautiful. Sandy Pride is a cooperative effort put together to address issues in the city taking place on three levels.

The first of these is the family.

Families are encouraged to take time to work together in making their own home a clean, beautiful place to live. Second involves the neighborhood and how to band together as neighbors to work on projects together and to pay special attention to those with any disabilities or any seniors who are unable to physically perform tasks in the yard or on a home. The final level is the community as a whole, where everyone can get involved by assisting with projects in their neighborhoods or local parks.

Volunteers helping make Sandy more beautiful

A partial list of completed projects include:

Hidden Valley Park – planting trees

Sandy Museum – planting flowers

Dog Park, Eastridge, Falcon & Willow Creek – maintenance, cleaning, bark, weeds and clean up

Bell Canyon Trail & Bluffs Hillside – Trail repairs and clean up

Even though this year's event is over, taking pride in your community occurs all year long. To learn how you can become more involved, please contact Laura Christensen at 568-7254.
